FUNK LINKO

FunkLinko: A NAME YOU KNOW AND TRUST

Since 1925, FunkLinko (previously Funk Forging) has been designing and fabricating sign and light poles for commercial uses. Four generations of this family-owned business have maintained an abiding commitment to quality and service. Today, FunkLinko produces sign poles for many major oil companies, fast food operations, hotels, car dealers and airports in the United States and worldwide.

QUALITY PRODUCTS AND ON-TIME DELIVERY

Quality is what distinguishes FunkLinko from other pole companies. We place emphasis on quality materials that adhere to industry standards as well as experienced, qualified labor to make sure your poles are safe and help reduce your liability. That's why we use only 100% certified materials and AWS-certified welders. We make certain our poles meet local building code requirements and will withstand severe weather. Most importantly, we recognize the importance of on-time delivery to keep your building projects on schedule.

You'll get the quality pole you want just when you want it with FunkLinko.

100% GUARANTEE

FunkLinko is so committed to quality and service that we make this guarantee on every project: Your pole will be free from defects in material and construction. If defects are detected within one year of the date of shipment, FunkLinko will replace all defective parts free of charge.

The guarantee is void if any modification of the product's intended use is executed. Written notification of defects and a FunkLinko inspection is required before replacement. Buyers must return the defective product to FunkLinko for replacement of all defective parts F.O.B. destination.

PRODUCT SAMPLES
